The decorative flower-shaped mirrors were made using Mirrorank^[12] and Plaskolite. The mirrors were made by cutting a 1/4 inch thick MDF board into the shape of a flower. The mirrors were then placed on the back of the flower and sealed with a clear adhesive. The mirrors were then placed on a marble surface.

The laser-cut flower design is a complex, multi-layered structure. It is made of a material that can be laser-cut, such as acrylic or wood. The design is a stylized flower with multiple layers of petals. The outer layers are pink, and the inner layers are silver. The design is intricate, with fine lines and curves. The flower is resting on a light-colored, textured surface, possibly a table or a workbench. The background is slightly blurred, showing more of the same design and some greenery in the distance.

The laser-cut flower design is made of Grandview Acrylic^[14] with a thickness of ± 0.1 mm. The design is cut using a CO2 laser with a precision of ± 0.05 mm. The CNC Grandview laser-cutting process is used to create the intricate design. The design is a stylized flower with multiple layers of petals. The outer layers are pink, and the inner layers are silver. The design is intricate, with fine lines and curves. A lifestyle photograph featuring a white thermal bottle with a pink lotus flower design, a round mirror with the same design, and a potted plant on a marble surface. The scene is set on a light-colored marble countertop. To the left, a round mirror with a gold-colored frame reflects the lotus design. In the center, a white thermal bottle with a silver-colored cap and a pink lotus flower design stands upright. To the right, a potted plant with green leaves is visible. The background is softly blurred, showing more of the plant and the marble surface.
